Dear Parents and Carers

Due to your child's diligence and commitment to music at DHJS, I am delighted to offer them the opportunity to attend the Southwark Orchestral Playing Day at the Clore Ballroom in Royal Festival Hall on the Southbank on Monday 11th February 2019. The event will involve a workshop in which they will create some improvised music with and perform in a piece together. The children will be provided with the music for the piece for them to look at in advance.

There will be a concert sharing the day's work, beginning at 5pm and finishing at approximately 5:45pm. No tickets are required, so please do come along & support your child and bring lots of friends too! The children are to be picked up from Royal Festival Hall by 6pm.

The children will be travelling by public transport to the venue for a 2.00pm workshop & remaining there until the end of the performance. They will need to bring a packed lunch (to eat before the workshop starts at 2.00) and a snack for later as well as enough to drink.

Please note that the performance will be photographed & may be filmed for documentation purposes and possible future promotional use.

This workshop is by no means compulsory and I understand that, for many reasons, it may not be possible for your child to attend. Please let me know by completing the form below and returning it to school by 3.30pm Monday 21st Jan. If I have not received your form by this date then I will assume you do not wish your child to participate.

Best wishes,

Sharon Campbell
Music Co-ordinator

Please complete all sections of form below then return to school. Thank you
